FOREWORD

As an attestation to Mars Hill College and a recognition of those alumni whose services to society are the greater epitomy of that spirit—as a record of lasting friendships and hours of joy and toil—and as a service to humanity—a college that has a Christian spirit—an institution of learning whose future shall bear out the promise of its past. If all this has been embodied in the pages of this book, then our purpose has been accomplished.

AMBITION

Ambition is life's greatest pathway that points to the stars—it is lighted by the rays of hope that spring from the heart of man and paved with beads of sweat that fall from his brow

Few of us are fortunate enough to reach the heights for which we strive, but we gain all we get from the strain and sweat—and the struggle is always worthwhile.

The happiness, peace and pleasure of success do not come from dwelling within that coveted structure. They are enjoyed in the process of building—in drafting the plans, laying the foundation, selecting the materials, measuring the many parts and dovetailing them together.

Life's greatest joy is in the anticipation of each day's accomplishment and our truest contentment comes in the momentary satisfaction with the task well done.

Smile into the face of the world and a smile comes back—render good service to others and good service is returned to you—show a spirit of helpfulness and that spirit will surely send back aid to you of a like kind—think good thoughts and the same good thoughts will be of you.

Let no one cloud his vision, poison his mind and dwarf his soul with the false imagination that the world is not giving him a square deal.

You are, after all, the sculptor of your own existence. The goal you set is the model by which you work and the present is the clay with which you are working—moulding your tomorrow by your deeds of today.

You can't remodel the past—the future is only yours to anticipate—but NOW is your time—and my time—to shape as we will.

Jim Davenport: Here are my Mae West problems.

Mrs. Robinson: What do you mean?

Jim Davenport: I done 'em wrong.

◎ ◎ ◎ ◎

She laughed when I sat down on the sofa, but when I started to play——.

◎ ◎ ◎ ◎

"Darling," cried Frank in tender tones,
"I never loved but thee."
"Then we must part," Nina said;
"No amateurs for me!"

◎ ◎ ◎ ◎

Corbett: I passed your house last night.

Lillian: Thanks!

◎ ◎ ◎ ◎

Rema Young: Now, Mrs. Burnett, I suppose that is one of those horrid portraits you call art?

Mrs Burnett: No, Rema dear, that is a mirror.

◎ ◎ ◎ ◎

Sara Barett: Alice, who was that gentleman I saw you dating last night?

Alice Early: That was no gentleman; that was a member of the Hilltop staff.

◎ ◎ ◎ ◎

Jack Hodges: Did you ever see a dream walking?

Virginia Ballard: Yes, you nightmare.

John Corbitt says the way to acquire a dimple is to sleep on a collar button.

◎ ◎ ◎ ◎

"You'd better hang me," said Jack Benson, sentenced to die by electrocution.

"Why?" he was asked.

"'Cause I've been janitor in a girls' dormitory," he replied.

◎ ◎ ◎ ◎

Madison County Corn has had its name changed to Mae West Corn, because it comes up sometimes!

What They Think of Women:

Woodrow Jones — "Undecided." (Editor's note—Undecided March 28, and before. March 29, decided in favor of Vanceboro over Morganton.)

Dub Parker—"Yes and no; but on the whole, yes."

Curt Vincent:—"I don't think, I know."

Tom Merrell—"Pleasure and a necessity."

Vance Hardin—"I cannot commit myself."

Billy Wright—"Who, me?"

U. A. Moss—They're O. K., but I like the B. S. U. better."

Bill Nettles—"Pretty good - - - I'm going to marry one some day."

Bob Costner—"* * * ! !" (Censored).

Memories

Poignant as molten moonlight
Slipping through sighing leaves,
Or the rhythmic chant of summer rain
Dripping from ancient eaves,
Is the memory of that evening
When we sat in the shaded room there,
And you bluffed me out of fourteen bucks
With a dirty, lousy pair!

Samuel Insull: Whose your close-mouthed friend over there?

Bill Nettles: He ain't close - mouthed. That's Walt Rabb waiting for the janitor to come back with the spittoon.

The "M" Club dedicates this section of Athletics to Yates Stroupe, hoping that in death he will lead those who follow him to a spirit of clean living. He was a gentleman in every endeavor, with clean sportsmanship, dauntless courage, never failing courtesy, and devotion to his comrades. He endeared himself to all with whom he was associated. To him life was an adventure to be undertaken without fear or regret. Although he is gone, a part of him will always remain with us. To all who knew him, HE WAS A MAN.
